Kythera, island of heavenly Aphrodite, known as Cerigo since the Venetian period of influence, offers a complete experience for lovers of Greek culture, antiquity and nature. Located between the Peloponnese and Crete, it is famous for its thyme honey and golden olive oil. The island offers pristine, uncrowded beaches, secluded grottos, and unique Byzantine, Venetian and ancient treasures to discover: treat yourself to the simple pleasures of a traditional hotel or guest-house, hiking, swimming, relaxing and immersed in local culture far from your everyday life.
